As a Technical Producer, you'll work closely with our shared tech teams to produce a roadmap, and then help them bring it to life. You'll be supporting multiple agile teams with different specialties. While you won't be programming with them, you'll need to speak their language at a high level and always be on the look-out for cross team opportunities.

What you will do:

- You organize and facilitate information exchange between the Product Owner, the Architects, and the Team
- Support the day-to-day management of production team members and project management team members
- You assist in planning, scheduling and maintaining the roadmap
- Collaborate with the Development Director to manage requirements, development, and maintenance of technical initiatives.
- Work with the Project Managers and team leads to produce realistic schedules and milestone plans for the technical teams.
- Communicate with senior management on all development status and collaborate with discipline directors to solve problems and mitigate risk.
- Identify and communicate all roadblocks or bottlenecks that may prevent teams from achieving established goals within their sprints/milestones.
- Provide data to ensure that project goals, objectives, milestones and deliverable requirements are realistic and achievable.
- Own operational aspects of project development, including establishing development frameworks, reporting, risk management, capacity planning, resource management, and budgeting.
- Establish and maintain a healthy team spirit with open communication, constructive feedback culture, easy and lean processes and realistic goals.
- Have an analytical eye, optimizing workflows and processes to make coordination within the team members on different sites as simple as possible.

What you bring:

- Computer science degree or equivalent experience
- Comprehensive understanding of game development, from concept to submission and sustained development post launch

- Strong time-management skills with the ability to focus on priorities, manage change and deliver against agreed deadlines
- Willing to commit and take responsibility for projects
- Strong written and verbal communication skills
- Experience in building and leading of high performing teams
- You are eager to collaborate with multiple international teams, both internal and external.

Nice to have:

- In a life prior to production you started as programmer
