As Lead VFX Artist for the Assassin's Creed VR team you will be passionate about creating high-quality visual effects that are in-line with the creative direction of the game universe and adhere to any technological budget constraints. In order to give our players an unforgettable experience you'll use your in-depth understanding of the impact that VFX has and how to smoothly integrate it. You will lead a diverse team in a passionate, fun and creative workplace and maximise their potential as you always strive for excellence.

- As lead you will inspire, manage and develop the VFX team
- You'll collaborate with the Art Director to ensure the VFX is aligned with the defined vision
- You'll enjoy giving mentorship and clear direction for the aesthetic and technical requirements
- As part of one of our cutting-edge AAA VR projects, you'll be ignited with a passion to research and develop new VFX solutions both visually and technically
- Together with the technical art team, you'll investigate and develop optimised VFX solutions to achieve the highest quality level within the limitations of the platform and project.
- Negotiating the needs of the team will be a challenge you are geared up for

What you'll bring

- 5 years of VFX experience, having shipped at least 1 title
- 2 years of experience in a leadership role
- Experience with Unity
- Experience with Houdini
- Experience optimising VFX for mobile platform preferred
- Your communication skills are excellent; you can clearly explain and document concepts, give feedback to internal artists and are fluent in English both written and verbally.

You as a person

- You'll build trust with your team and lead with integrity and high emotional intelligence
- You find it easy to collaborate with other departments and be a bridge between your areas of expertise to enrich gameplay, accessibility and the player experience
- You are organised and have the experience to deliver time estimates for VFX deliverables, participating in the planning for the projects visual effects.
- When it comes to improving upon existing technologies and developing new ones that raise the bar of the game, you are passionate and curious

- You are a bold and intelligent negotiator
